Accounting Consultant Contributed to Michigan's Contractors Assistance Program

Diane C.O. Gilson, CPA, CIA (Certified QuickBooks® ProAdvisor) and President of Info Plus Accounting PC, conducted informative sessions on general accounting principles and QuickBooks® specific accounting procedures for the Contractors Assistance Program (CAP) last month in Michigan cities of Flint, Grand Rapids, and Detroit.

CAP is an initiative by the Michigan State Housing and Development Authority to provide opportunities for small, minority, and/or female contractors to achieve success and independence. The program offers 12 week training sessions twice a year to qualifying applicants. Accepted contractors are educated in a wide range of construction related educational topics such as bookkeeping, business planning, estimating, insurance, and marketing.

"The Contractors Assistance Program provides a terrific educational opportunity for start up construction companies as stated in their slogan: Building a Strong Future for Small, Minority and/or Female Contractors", said Diane CO Gilson, CPA, CIA, President. "Sound, profitable companies are built by owners who have acquired both a solid technical base and a thorough understanding of financial realities and requirements. I am honored to have helped these entrepreneurs build a durable foundation by using QuickBooks® in the best possible way for their construction companies."
