Local Accountant To Present Seminars at the 2007 International Builders' Show

Diane C.O. Gilson, CPA, Certified QuickBooks® ProAdvisor and President of Info Plus(+) Accounting<sup>SM</sup> PC, will be presenting two seminars titled "Achieving Accurate Numbers and Reliable Reports with QuickBooks®" and "Employee Labor: Measuring Costs and Profits with Excel and QuickBooks®" at the International Builders' Show to be held February 7-10, 2007 in Orlando, Florida.

These seminars were designed to help educate builders on ways that QuickBooks® can help them access the financial information that they need to keep on top of day-to-day operations and improve their back office procedures.

Speaking at this national show for the seventh time, Gilson says, "Construction businesses have discovered that QuickBooks® is a powerful in-house tool that they can use to access their critical weekly job cost data and monthly financial reports. At each of these shows, I have the opportunity to interact with the most professional and diligent construction owners, and each year, I'm increasingly impressed with their steadily advancing level of financial sophistication and QuickBooks expertise."
